Elections To Be Tuesday In This And Other States

Texans To Decide On Amendments To Constitution

By the Associated Press
Texans tomorrow will vote on ten proposed amendments to the Constitution and elect a 21-member Board of Education.

These are the state-wide issues in the off-year election that is expected to pull around 250,000 persons to the polls.

Four seats in the House of Representatives and one in the Senate will also be filled.

One of the most controversial of the ten proposed amendments provides for a yearly session of the Legislature and an annual salary of $3,600 for members. Another hotly debated proposal has been that which abolishes the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting.

George Nokes of Corsicana and Phil Willis of Kaufman have waged a strong campaign for the senate seat resigned by James E. Taylor of Kerens.

Both resigned from the House of Representatives to make the race in the North Central Texas District.

Three candidates seek the seat of Rep. L. B. Holt, resigned. They are Harold Lafont and Joe Jennings of Plainview and Tom Deen of Floydada.

Billy Ragan of Barry, Kenneth Douglas of Corsicana, James Sewell of Blooming Grove, and Roark Montgomery seek Nokes' House seat.

Maples Cate and Fred V. Morehead.

Navarro County Voters Will Go To Polls Tuesday

Navarro county voters Tuesday will express their preferences on ten proposed amendments to the Constitution of Texas, and also will vote on two candidates seeking the state board of education from this district, two candidates for state senate and four aspirants to membership in the house of representatives.

Twenty absentee ballots were cast at the county clerk's office before the time limit expired Friday night.

Final instructions were given presiding judges Saturday at a meeting at the courthouse with Joe D. Huffstutler, county judge, as the principal speaker.

This newspaper will compile the election returns Tuesday night. All election judges have been requested to telephone (collect) the Daily Sun as soon as their returns are available.

The polls open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

All persons in the county vote at the same boxes they did in the Democratic primaries and general elections last year. The extension of the Corsicana city limits does not change the county voting precinct boundaries.

All election supplies and boxes were delivered Monday.

Precinct 1 voters will report to the Crockett school, while Precinct 2 voters will cast their ballots at the Travis school cafeteria, using the west entrance. Ward 3 is to be at the courthouse and Ward 4 and the city hall as in previous years.

GEORGE O. NOKES, JR.

Local Attorney Closed Campaign For State Senate

George O. Nokes, Jr., Corsicana attorney, concluded his campaign Monday for the State Senate from the sixth Texas district with little fanfare. He said he was confident he would be victorious Tuesday for the seat left vacant by the resignation of Senator James E. Taylor.

"During the past few weeks there has been a noticeable upswing in my strength throughout the district," Nokes stated Monday morning, and added:

"I am deeply grateful to all of those who have been so helpful to me in this long and intensive campaign."

The 26-year-old Air Force veteran and two-term member of the Texas House of Representatives has toured the district, composed of Henderson, Navarro, Anderson, Kaufman and Freestone counties in an intensive manner. The law-maker spoke of his sponsoring the school program in the legislature, Veterans Affairs Commission, and his declining of the offer of the secretaryship of the State Democratic executive committee as he "did not feel that a member of the Legislature should hold a party office."

He resigned from the Legislature to make the senatorial campaign.

Russian Marshal Quits Red Army For Polish Post

WARSAW, Poland, One of Soviet Russia's top army commanders, Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky, quit the Red Army today to enter the Polish cabinet as minister of national defense.

Rokossovsky, born in Poland 53 years ago, also will be appointed to the important council of state—a post expected to give him a strong voice in governmental as well as military affairs of this Soviet orbit.

Rokossovsky commanded one of the Soviet army groups that liberated Warsaw. Since the end of the war he has commanded the Soviet Western Army in parts of former German territory occupied by Poland.

Salvation Army

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is one of a series describing the activities of the 11 agencies that are a part of the Corsicana Community Chest. The Chest is seeking to collect $42,346 in its drive. The Chest depends on you to fill this quota. When you give to the Chest you actually are giving to 11 worthy agencies at one time.)

Expecting operating expenses of $9,426.44 during the coming year, the Salvation Army asked the Corsicana Community Chest to provide $4,950 of this amount. The budget committee, after due deliberation, cut the amount to $4,600.

Last year the Salvation Army had operating expenses of $8,461.24. Increases in salaries for 20 of its workers and additional outlay for Christmas baskets, aid to children and family relief and care of transients were the main reasons for the increased budget. The salary raises were minor items, amounting to only about $100.

The agency expects to raise $4,300 through donations, sales of War Cry, Christmas kettles and the young peoples group.

Estimated expenses for the Army during the coming year follow:

Salaries for commanding officer and two workers, $2,938.80; telephone and telegraph, $135; printing and stationery, $40; postage, $20; office supplies, $15; auto upkeep, $210; auto allowance, $62; rent, $260; light, power, water and heat, $340; insurance, $80; dues, $942.29; missionary fund, $250; repairs to furnishings and equipment, $120; replacements to furnishings and equipment, $180; new equipment, $70; repairs to building, $40.

Special publicity and educational events, $120; travel and conventions, $200; publication subscriptions, $30; young peoples' department, $600; Christmas baskets, board paid for children and family relief, $1,200; transient meals, $250; transient lodgings, $232.85; medical and dental supplies, $50; professional fees, $50; unmarried mothers aid, $150; War Cry costs, $232.80; young peoples summer camp, $60.

Nation Will Get Preview Of 1950 Political Battle

By the Associated Press
In a preview of the 1950 struggle for control of Congress, voters scattered across the nation pick one senator, two house members, two governors and many local officials tomorrow.

A special senate race in New York overshadows all others in interest.

In that contest and in certain others, labor as well as the major political parties will have something at stake.

The AFL and CIO have put their chips down together on Democratic former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in the New York election to round out the term—expiring in January, 1951—of Senator Wagner (D-NY) who resigned.

Republican Senator John Foster Dulles, an appointee of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, has made President Truman's "Fair Deal" program an issue by his attacks on it. He has come out for a modified version of the Taft-Hartley act.

The president spoke out against Dulles Saturday night in a radio broadcast urging the election of Lehman.

Across the river in New Jersey, labor has split apart in the hotly contested race for governor. The AFL has endorsed Democratic

Oxygen Use Cuts Polio Death Rate At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The death rate of infantile polio victims given early oxygen treatment at Riley Hospital has been only about half the national average, hospital authorities reported today.

Evidence is this must be due to a great extent to oxygen treatment, said Dr. Donald J. Casley, medical director of Indiana University Medical center which supervises the hospital.

The hospital has had 277 polio victims and 13 of these have died.

This is about half the average death expectancy in the nation and in Indiana as a whole.

Dr. Casley pointed out that use of oxygen was not new, but that Riley hospital has facilities to try it on a fairly large scale.

At the first indication of lack of oxygen the patient was treated with oxygen placed in a respirator.

Cash Income For Farmers Of Texas Shows Increase

AUSTIN, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Cash income of Texas farmers increased 22 percent in September over August, and 10 percent over September a year ago.

The Bureau of Business Research reported total cash income was $263,107,000 for the month.

September cotton consumption at 12,898 bales, up 5 percent from August but down 16 percent in comparison with September a year ago.

Income from cotton, the largest source of cash income, totaled $22,855,000, and cattle $18,591,000.

After adjustment for seasonal variation, the bureau's index of farm cash income rose to 877 percent of the 1935-36 base period in September, from 473 in August and 569 in September, 1948.

Community Chest Gift Committee Reports $21,066

With the "big gift" campaign of the Corsicana Community Chest nearing completion, committee members reported pledges of $2,025 collected Saturday. This brings the amount collected by the "big gift" workers to $21,066. The Chest's quota is $42,346.

Pledges Saturday included Lt. Col. O. L. Dockum, $50; Mrs. Louise Pace King, $125; J. O. Burke, $200; Mrs. Byron Cheney, $55; Radio Station KAND, $50; E. W. Woolley, $50; Tex-Sun Glove Co., $50; W. M. Davidson, $50; Butler-Calhoun Co., $20; Daich-Jewelry Co., $100; J. C. Penney Co., $120; Mrs. W. S. Jackson, $255; Miles Furniture Co., $80; McColpin Grain Co., $55; Lyon-Gray Lumber Co., $125; Dr. E. H. Newton, $17; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Pierce, $200.

EMPTY CRIB—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Komerek gaze at the empty crib from which Mrs. Komerek had said their six-week-old son, Stephen, was kidnapped. At a coroner's inquest Sunday, however, Mrs. Komerek said that she and her husband had dropped the baby when she was feeding him, and that she had invented the story of a kidnapping because she was afraid of what her husband would say. She first told Utica police that a man in a black coat had stolen the baby from its crib while she was resting on a couch in her suburban home in Clayville, N. Y., and her husband was at work. MOTHER STRICKEN BY REMORSE ADMITS HER KIDNAP STORY FALSE

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(AP)—A remorse-stricken mother has confessed that her six-week-old son was killed in a fall from her arms and that her story of kidnapping was "made up" out of fear of what her husband would say.

"I dropped my baby," Mrs. Stella Komerek blurted out at a coroner's inquest last night.

The sobbing admission from the plump, 29-year-old mill worker's wife came 11 hours after the body of her son, Stephen, was found in a millpond 500 yards from the modest Komerek home in nearby Clayville.

Coroner Preston R. Clark gave a verdict of accidental death.

The early police investigation was placed against Mrs. Komerek. During hours of steady questioning by state police yesterday, she had clung to her story that the infant was snatched from its bassinet in the kitchen late Friday night by a strange man.

But under oath at the coroner's inquest, she broke almost at once.

"Now, Stella, tell us what happened," Dr. Clark said to her.

"I dropped my baby," Mrs. Komerek blurted out. "He wiggled right out of my arms. I was feeding him. He fell on his head. His eyes rolled back and he wasn't breathing."

An autopsy established that the child's skull was fractured and that he died of drowning.

During the inquest, Mrs. Komerek and her husband, 34, an ex-Marine who works as a machine tender in a paper mill, sobbed uncontrollably.

Postoffice, Depot And Store Entered By Burglars At Purdon Sunday Night

Navarro county's current crime wave spread even further Sunday night as burglars virtually took over the community of Purdon.

The early police investigation was placed against Mrs. Komerek. During hours of steady questioning by state police yesterday, she had clung to her story that the inof cash taken was unknown Monday morning pending more investigation.

A lone burglar was believed frightened away from the W. B. Turner Store at Richmond about 2 a. m. Monday. Deputy Sheriff Dick Salter reported. Door locks at the store were smashed but the burglar did not enter. It was believed.

A woman across the street was awakened in her home by the burglar's hammering, and upon investigation she spotted a dark-dressed man fleeing. Salter said.

Purdon Postmaster Albert Mosley, upon reporting for work at 6:40 a. m. Monday, found two of the office's doors open. He said the safe had been battered apart and its contents spread over the floor.

We keep three separate funds in the safe," Mosley said, "and they were all taken."

A postal inspector at Fort Worth was immediately notified and was expected to be in Purdon by noon. Everything was left untouched.

"We can't determine the amount of money taken until the books are examined," said Mosley, who would not estimate how much cash the safe contained.

Next door to the post office, burglars smashed a rear door to Bittner's store and completely ransacked the place.

They went through everything looking for my cash receipts," Bittner reported. "They took my 38

American Troops To Stay In Japan For Years To Come

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The United States intends to keep troops in Japan for many years after the end of the Allied occupation.

Diplomatic authorities said that decision has been reached by officials who, in trying to draw up a treaty of Japanese peace treaty, faced this tough problem:

How can Japan be given full political independence, while still keeping some protection against a growing Communist menace in Asia?

With their decision on this and other tough matters, state department planners have reached an advanced stage in their efforts to whip into shape a treaty of peace with the former enemy nation.

The next step must be consultation with Britain and other nations. U. S. planning has progressed far enough so that Secretary of State Acheson will be able to assure British Foreign Minister Bevin in Paris this week of U. S. readiness to start such talks in the near future.

The major provisions of the pact as now drafted by the state department call for:

1. An end to the Allied occupation commanded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, as soon as the treaty is signed and ratified.

2. An orderly surrender by the occupation forces of the powers and duties of governing the country, and their subsequent withdrawal, as such, in about six months the Japanese government would have complete control of all the nation's internal and foreign affairs.

3. Denial to the new government of (a) the industrial capacity to build a modern machine and (b) the right to create an army (which is also denied in the Japanese constitution).

4. Final cleanup of all reparations questions, including disposition of former Japanese enemy assets in Allied and neutral countries.

5. Final removal of territories from Japanese control in accordance with the wartime Cairo agreement, as well as the surrendering of Japanese rights over the Pacific mandated islands.

6. Guarantees of basic civil rights, including the basic principles of Western political democracy, such as freedom of speech, religion and assembly.

7. Commitments on Japanese membership in international organizations and treaties. It now seems likely that the Japanese will be required to make friendship and trade treaties with the principal Allies, to stand for membership in the United Nations and otherwise to try to establish itself in the family of nations.

Lobbyists Said Leading Battle On Amendments

AUSTIN, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Two Panhandle legislators joined today in charging that oil, gas and sulphur lobbyists are taking a lead in the fight against the annual session annual pay constitutional amendment.

The amendment is one of four that will be voted on in tomorrow's election.

Rep. J. Blake Timmons of Amarillo also protested a ruling by liquor administrator Coke Stevenson Jr., holding that beer and liquor may be sold on election day except where local ordinances prohibit it.

Timmons requested Stevenson to ask the attorney general for an opinion on the liquor administrator's interpretation of the law.

Stevenson held that tomorrow is not a general election day as defined in the state liquor law.

Senator Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo also issued a statement saying if the annual session and pay amendment is defeated, "it will be another of the many successful victories originated by the so-called third house, or major campaign lobbies in Austin, such as oil, gas and sulphur."

He said not everyone opposing the amendment was affiliated with the lobbyists, and that their tracks are evident in many organizations fighting the proposal.

Timmons said it appeared that both the "oil-gas-sulphur-pipeline" and certain "short-sighted, big-money" lobbyists favor an undemocratic legislature.

Timmons said he would look with favor on annual sessions.

70 German Miners Reported Killed

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A western newspaper reported yesterday that 70 East German miners died in a cave-in at a Soviet zone uranium mine blow up.

The mine, according to the newspaper Sozial Demokrat, was near Zwickenau, 60 miles southwest of Dresden in the Erz mountains.

An address on farm progress is scheduled to be given by Rep. Bob Poage of the 10th congressional district. Several other officials will make talks, including Allen Bryant, farmer and seed breeder; L. J. Cappeham, state director of the Farmers Home Administration; Jack Everhart, district soil conservationist; and County Agent W. H. Walker.

Most important work to be done, agriculturally speaking, is seedling winter legumes, and applying phosphate, to about 134 acres.

But Mrs. Lee Thompson, attractive young mother of two

Coal Situation May Depend On Other Accords

Truman Reported Planning Action In Fuel Strike

LATE BULLETIN
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A CIO United Steelworkers negotiator said today the union and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation are "very, very close" to a pension-insurance agreement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Hopes for labor peace in both the steel and coal industries hinged today on quickened settlement moves in the steel strike.

Government officials said they look for several major steel firms to come to terms this week with the striking CIO steelworkers.

They said this probably would ease on John L. Lewis and soft coal operators toward an agreement.

There were reports that President Truman may intervene in the coal situation if it continues hopelessly beyond this week.

Some officials favored Mr. Truman's naming a fact-finding board with power to recommend settlement terms. Such a method, which is outside the scope of the Taft-Hartley act, was adopted in the steel strike.

But other officials talked of possible use of the Taft-Hartley act to obtain a strike-ending court injunction.

The coal strike is now in its 49th day, the steel strike in its 37th.

The two stoppages, the worse effects have come from the coal mine walkout, which curtailed train service and created fuel shortages for many households. But lack of steel has hit manufacturers.

The Bethlehem settlement provided for a $100 minimum monthly pension including government social security benefits, along with a social insurance program. It did not include a wage increase.

An offer has been made to Murray's union, by Republic Steel Corp. (RSC), to take over the plant. But its terms had not been discussed.

Attorneys for the company and the union met yesterday to iron out language of the proposed agreement, indicating that settlement was near.

Lawmaker's Trial For Defrauding U. S. Gets Reset

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The trial of Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-Ind.) today was reset for next Monday. Thomas is accused of conspiracy to defraud the government by "padding" his office payroll.

William H. Collins, attorney for Thomas, said today that because he is representing another client in the case now being tried.

Collins told reporters he doubted he would be free to appear for Thomas, and asked for a reset today. On next Monday he may ask another weeks' postponement.

Airplanes Collide But Pilots Live

MANILA, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Two U. S. 13th Airforce fighter pilots today collided in the air over Luzon and lived to tell about it.

The two F-51 fighters suffered major damage when they brushed each other doing a routine training flight at 7,300 a. m. Both pilots ejected their planes and landed them at Clark Field base.

The pilots were Lt. Harry E. Dunn of Norwalk, Conn., and Lt. Charles E. Schreffler of Anderson, Ind.

Farm "Face-Lifting" To Attract Ten Thousand

By CLYDE E. JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff
They call it "face-lifting" nowadays—when citizens link their minds, energy and equipment to "build" a farm in just eight hours.

That's what will happen Thursday at the Lee Thompson 250-acre farm near Blooming Grove.

And agriculturists predict that 10,000 people or more will be on hand to witness this 1949 style "house-raising."

Located midway between Blooming Grove and Frost on State Highway 22, the Thompson farm will be given an up-to-date agricultural treatment that normally would require five years of work.

Large amounts of modern farm implements, furnished by business men, will be put into operation. Agricultural officials will vacate their desks and offices to do overalls and mount tractors.

The "Farm Improvement Day" project, first of its kind in the county, will feature the demonstration of applying modern improvement practices. And it will be a lesson to farmers, teaching them the advantages of protecting the soil and building up the land.

MENTAL ILLNESS

Interest in mental illness is rising. Books about it are being read. People are realizing that it is an important subject. "The Snake Pit" by Mary Jane Ward became a best seller, and was the basis of a highly successful movie. That dealt with the abnormal personality and its care from the point of view of the woman possessing it.

In a recent Ladies Home Journal there is a condensed novel, "My Brother's Keeper" by Clifford Duway, which deals with the matter from the point of view of the elder brother whose own life and that of his parents are rendered all but unbearable by the condition of the younger man in the family. It is true that the book is fiction and the characters are fictional, but these imagined characters are all dealt with in a manner which bears the stamp of truth. The state which in the book deals so inadequately with its patient is Virginia, but there is hardly a state in the union which deals much more ably with these sorrowful and trouble-making people.

Such patients present, indeed, problems all but insoluble. But help if possible for many of them—cure for some, assistance for others. And for those beyond cure, beyond aid, beyond any possible normal living, some way of life must be found which will keep them as comfortable and useful as possible, keep them from destroying by their abnormalities the families from which they came.

It is a hopeful sign to find fiction stories about them; for people will read the story of human interest where they will not read the scientific tome. And when they understand the problems they will demand better solutions than any which have yet been found in public care. These matters need attention.

COMMUNISM AND SPORTS

Americans and Communists are not likely ever to understand each other. Czechoslovakia has a world champion hockey team, yet has dropped three of its best players because they were "politically unreliable."

An American counterpart of this action might be for the New York Yankees to fire three men from the top of the batting order, if they were unorthodox in politics and economics. There would be quite a reaction from the citizenry of New York City, and from baseball fans everywhere.

USING THE WHEAT

A proposal for a barter with India may offer one answer to the perplexing question of what to do, sensibly and usefully, with the great stocks of food the government owns as a result of purchases made to support prices. It has been proposed that the United States might send a million tons of wheat to India, in return for which India would send to the United States, when available, manganese and mica of equivalent value. One hitch is that India might not be able to fulfill its part of the bargain for three or four years, because of other commitments for sale of its entire output of the two minerals.

India has need of wheat. The people of India do not know what it is to be able to buy all the wheat meal and bread and what that they might be able to pay for; the amount they may buy is strictly rationed by the government. A million tons of the grain would enable the government to increase the

THAT NICE OLD MAN.
When I was eight or nine or ten
I knew a lot of nice old men
Who lived along our shady street
And spoke to me when'er we'd meet.

Though of their years I wasn't told,
I thought of them as very old.
For they were strong and straight
And tall
And I was only ten and small.

I thought to stop with boys to chat,
Wear trousers and a derby hat
And own a watch and chain of gold.
That every grown-up must be old.

Today I know, though somewhat late,
One "nice old man" was thirty-eight.
And there was one who lived next door
Whose age was only forty-four.

All little boys of ten, as I
Will live to learn, as time goes by,
That "nice old man" who lives next door
Today is only forty-four.

wheat ration, and also to control a working surplus, beyond the amount needed to meet the ration, with which to combat black market operations and market profiteering.

It would be hard to find a better use to which America's so-called surplus wheat might be put. If the American supply of scarce strategic materials could be increased in the same bargain, it would seem to be a good one.

YUKON GOLD STRIKE

It is reported that a new gold strike has been made along the Yukon River just north of the Arctic Circle. Prospectors are going in by plane, carrying picks and shovels, as did their predecessors who had to make it on foot or by dog-sled.

The passage of time has brought many changes since the first Yukon gold rush in the nineties, but the psychology of the typical prospector remains the same. The fascination of the search for the yellow metal is such that no matter how meager the actual rewards it is pursued with passion. Many a gold digger, had he applied himself to the kind of work which keeps the world going, could have made more money with less effort. That prospect for gold satisfies the gambling instinct and a love of adventure is perhaps the secret of its fascination.

Not until spring, say experts, can it be guessed whether the hardships of those who design the new Yukon strike will uncover enough gold to affect materially the amount to be stowed away at Fort Knox next year. The old-time prospector is now just someone who may occasionally find gold. Most of the world's gold is mined from large deposits, by modern mechanical means.

COFFEE

It is time somebody told Americans for sure whether or not there is a prospect for a reduced supply of coffee. Scarcely a day goes by without someone making a public statement either that coffee is about to become a luxury or that there is positively no danger of any shortage.

This sort of thing is unnerveing. Coffee is the mainstay on which the citizen depends to keep him awake through an overlong evening at the card table and to get him going again next morning when the alarm clock bids him be off to work. It lends warmth to his lunch of sandwiches and provides an excuse for getting out of the office for a few minutes in mid-morning and mid-afternoon. In short, coffee is important in American life.

Let's face the question fearlessly. Do we, or do we not, have enough coffee for a second cup this winter?

OLD FOLKS AT HOME

The need of old people for a sense of stability in a frighteningly changing world was pointed out by a Chicago social worker, speaking recently before the Institute on the problems of Old Age in that city.

This sense of stability is likely to be preserved by maintaining the indigent elderly in their own homes, instead of supporting them in institutions, according to this speaker. Housekeeping services may be supplied by welfare agencies, as well as medical and nursing care during illness. The gain in terms of happiness and comfort for these old people is great and the expense is often no more than with institutional care.

Equal in importance with the sense of stability resulting from this system is the increased self-respect which follows individual treatment. The institutional patient in many cases feels that he has lost his identity, and with it his reason for living. Here care of the aged is appropriate in a country which emphasizes the importance of the individual.

EMPIRE OF THE PAST

Many modern things go back very far. Communists use the clenched fist as a symbol of purpose or gesture of greeting. This gesture has now been declared by Italian archaeologists to go back to an almost forgotten people of the past, the Hittites.

The Hittites will be recalled by Old Testament readers as coupled with the Amalekites, the Jebusites and various other tribes with whom the ancient Hebrews had encounters. No passage in the Old Testament singles out any one of these tribes as more important than the rest. But in recent years it has been concluded that the Hittites had one of the great empires of ancient times, ranking in importance with Assyria, Babylonia and Egypt. Their domain was eastern Asia Minor, their period from 2500 B. C. to 850 B. C. Some of their many records, in the wedge-shaped or cuneiform style of writing which they borrowed from Babylonia, have been read; others in a picture script are still mysterious.

The clenched fist is not the only twentieth century survival of the Hittites. The Austro-Hungarian empire, whose life of many centuries ended in World War I, had as its symbol a double eagle, a sign going back to the Hittites.

THE PEOPLE'S RIGHT

Presumably the crisis in coal and steel supply has been allowed to develop as an alternate to any interference with the rights of labor and management to suspend operations while they settle their disputes. It is stoutly maintained that there is a fundamental right to strike which must not be taken away from labor; this is the right of labor to refuse to work under conditions imposed by an employer. If this right is fundamental, then there is a corresponding right of the employer to shut down his plant; it is his right to refuse to operate under conditions imposed by labor. One right is as defensible as the other. Both of these rights are in fact exercised in the United States today.

There is a third right which must be considered. It is the right of the people to demand adequate production of goods. The people have a right to insist that the employer and workers of any industry either maintain production adequate to meet the normal demands on that industry, or step out of the picture and let others take over. Both labor's right to strike and the employer's right to shut down, as they have developed in industry today, are rights to interrupt production while maintaining the monopoly of production. How can these two rights be reconciled with the third right of people, the right to an adequate supply of goods?

The question of adjusting these three rights to each other must be faced. Taken alone these are rights of special groups, and special group rights are defensible only when they can be integrated into the whole pattern of national welfare.

WHERE AMERICANS AGREE

"The government could never be properly administered until the laboring classes were reduced to a livelihood of herrings and potatoes" is cheerful sentiment uttered, surprisingly enough, by an American. This was not, however, in the present day. The editor of Niles' Weekly Register, the leading magazine of the first half of the nineteenth century, wrote that these words were uttered in his presence by an unnamed United States senator. In those days senators were elected by state legislatures, not by popular vote. It is hard to imagine an utterance which would more surely doom its speaker to defeat today.

To do our politicians justice, they believe in democracy as well as praise it. An anti-democratic remark like the above might have been possible in 1816 when the nation was still young, but has long been inconceivable here. This is one respect in which all factions are in accord.

RECOVERY SHORTCOMINGS

As Paul G. Hoffman returned to Europe and his tasks there as head of the Economic Co-Operation Administration, it was reported that he went prepared to tell the Marshall plan nations that they must increase their efforts to help themselves, to overcome the shortcomings which interfere with recovery. Congress made the present appropriation for aid to Europe with grumbling, and it is clear that unless Europe by next year has shown more rapid progress there may be difficulty in getting further appropriations.

Hoffman was expected to tell European leaders that they must increase their help to each other, must trade more freely among themselves and with more calculated effort to meet specific needs. Clearly this is so; Europe cannot stand on its own feet unless there is mutual help within its own family. He also was expected to tell European leaders that they must export more goods to America, to earn dollars to pay for their imports. This recommendation must be somewhat confusing to Europeans, when every attempt to sell more goods in America is met by loud outcries and demands for protection from the American makers and sellers of goods with which the European products would compete. Not all of the shortcomings of international trade are on the European side.

It is hard to dispute the two basic recommendations to European nations—give more help to each other, export more to America. Except by following them Europe can hardly regain economic stability. It should be noted as well that a certain amount of co-operation by Americans is required.

It is constantly amazing how many things which seemed of great importance yesterday can be cast aside today for others which now look more important.

If there is any ordinary activity more dangerous than crossing the street, it is venturing into the woods or fields during hunting season.

"FACE LIFTING"

Their children, Jerry Blake, 6, and Emma Lee, 8, attend school at Blooming Grove. The fact that five years of work will be done Thursday for the young farmer at no cost to him, hasn't changed Thompson's farm routine. He was in a cotton field until late Saturday, on his discing tractor. He also has plowed the area where his orchard will be.

Thursday's program looks something like this: From 8 a. m. until noon—tour of field operations. Then lunch, to be available at a concession stand set up by Future Farmers of America. Speeches will be given, starting at 12:30 p. m., when Allen Bryant will welcome the spectators and co-operating workers.

A tour of field activities is slated from 1:30 p. m. until 5 p. m.

The field work summary follows:

1. Installation of water facility to furnish water at house.
2. Paint house.
3. Cut cotton stalks and plow down old terraces.
4. Inoculate seed, fertilize and seed legumes.
5. Rebuild and construct five farm ponds.
6. Graduate brush and trees in pasture area.
7. Slope and seed gullies, and construct sod flumes.
8. Landscape homestead.
9. Set out two acres of orchard on contour ridge farm road.
10. Construct farm road.
11. Construct pasture fence.

Harrison Fendley, local FFA administrator, estimated that $100,000 worth of farm equipment would be put to use on the Thompson farm. This includes five bulldozers and two large road maintainers, and many tractors and implements.

The Thompson farm is the first insured mortgage loan in the county," Fendley said.

The sheriff's department and highway patrolmen will handle the traffic problem, Fendley said. He reported that a large space had been prepared for parking vehicles, and getting them off the highway.

NATIONAL VOTING

The CIO, on the other hand, has issued a report criticizing the severely linking him with the old Frank Hague organization of Jersey City. However, the CIO hasn't backed Driscoll.

Labor also splits in the mayoral race in Detroit, one of the local elections that will be watched closely for possible national trends. The race is backing Albert E. Cobo, Republican city treasurer, who led all of the candidates in the September primary. The CIO is supporting George Edwards, who has Democratic ties. The issue will be decided on a non-partisan ballot.

In the New York senatorial battle, Dulles appears to have turned into a toss-up contest a race which politicians a month ago were giving to Lehman by a wide margin.

Dulles has contended that Mr. Truman's program would lead to such centralization of power in Washington as to threaten individual liberties.

Plenty Of Space In County Jail

The county jail feed bill today was low—in fact the lowest since Sheriff David Castles has been in office.

The reason: Only four prisoners occupy cells.

Never has the jail been so "empty" since January 1, 1947, Castles said.

Attends Conference.

FT. WORTH, Nov. 5.—(Sp.)—Rev. D. A. Chisholm, Methodist district superintendent of the Corsicana district, attended the Dallas-Ft. Worth area council at First Methodist church Nov. 2-4.

Bishop William O. Martin presided at the council, which is composed of 27 district superintendents in the North, Central and Northeast Texas Conference.

The program included planning for all phases of the Methodist church program.

2 Negroes Hurt In Highway Mishap

Two Blooming Grove negroes received painful injuries in an automobile accident on Highway 22 between Frost and Mertens in Hill County early Saturday morning. John Melton, 23, and Rufus Williams, 19, were brought to the P. and S. Hospital here at 3:30 a. m. today. Melton was suffering from cuts about the neck and Williams had sustained possible fractures of the chest and ribs. Hospital attendants termed their condition as fair, but not critical.

Details of the accident were unavailable here.

REVOLUTION

Malenkov hurled his charges at the United States last night as the principal speaker in ceremonies at Moscow's Bolshoi Theater, inaugurating the anniversary celebration.

He charged the United States was plotting "to enslave the entire world."

Malenkov vigorously asserted that the Soviets "do not want war and we shall do everything possible to avert it."

"In the hands of the imperialists," he declared, "atomic energy is a means for the production of lethal weapons, a means of intimidation, an instrument of blackmail and coercion."

"But in the hands of the Soviet people," he continued, "it can be and must be a mighty instrument of technical progress on a scale never before witnessed, an instrument for the furthering of development of the productive forces of our country."

Malenkov called for "unconditional outlawing" of atomic weapons, establishment of "suitable" international control, and "condemnation of the preparations being conducted in certain countries, and in particular in the United States and Britain, for a new war."

Bulgaria's Communist foreign minister, Vladimir Poptomov, yesterday used Sofia's celebration to hint the government soon might try a former Communist deputy premier, Traicho Kostov, for alleged plotting with agents of Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, the United States and other Western powers.

Bulgaria's government said Poptomov is "unraveling proofs that the Traicho Kostovists and the campaign around them have been the main center of the clique of Anglo-American intelligence in our country."

Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government, though, has targeted for some of Russia's severest recent criticism, sent birthday greetings to Moscow along with the satellites still high in Kremlin favor.

Argentina's contribution to a faring note to the anniversary weekend. Federal police in Buenos Aires arrested 705 persons at a Communist party celebration. They were accused of disrupting the event for refusing to disband their meeting.

Some 8,500 Londoners gathered in Empress Hall for a program sponsored by the British Soviet society. By radio, they approved a greeting to Stalin.

In Washington the Soviet embassy prepared for an anniversary reception tonight. It was not known whether the reception would be held. Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky, now heading his country's delegation at the United Nations, would be able to attend. He has been ill with the grippe.

Rep. Olin Teague Goes To Mexico With House Panel

Congressman Olin E. Teague of Bryan, representative of the Sixth Texas district, left for Mexico shortly before noon Friday where he joined a group from the House Foreign Affairs committee for an airplane trip to Mexico to study the hoof and mouth disease control plan. He spoke at an Eleventh Avenue Methodist women's meeting Friday morning after spending Thursday afternoon and night here.

Teague will return to Washington by December 1 to assist in the preparation of the sub-committee on conditions in South and Central America. The information will be considered by the Foreign Affairs Committee and by the House of Representatives during the session of the 81st Congress when additional foreign policy legislation is expected to be considered.

Teague has been in Texas during October visiting the 110 cities in the eight-county district and traveling approximately 1800 miles by automobile.

BURGLARIES

Approximately $25 was in the cash register and the remainder of the silver was in a paper sack in a drawer, Blitner said.

Across the street from the post office, the depot was entered and burglars futilely hammered the safe knob off but apparently could not open the door.

Depot Agent H. R. Dugger said only about $12 was in the safe. "We had no express or freight in the depot at all," he said. No rail tickets were missed.

"I can't understand why anyone would break into a depot like this; we never keep much money," Dugger said.

The latest wave of burglaries followed closely behind at least three others in the county in the past few weeks. Other recent victims had been the Fortson Grocery at Rice, a store at Round Prairie, and the REA radio transmitting station at White's Chapel.

Deputy Sheriff R. E. Jones investigated the Purdon burglaries Monday morning.

Officials Give Reports At Meet Of DAR Chapter

An officer, state chairman and two state vice-chairmen of the Texas Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who are members of the local James Blair chapter, made reports at the DAR regional meeting in Tyler Friday.

They were Mrs. Albert B. Horn, state historian; Mrs. J. Wesley Edens, Sr., state chairman of the Junior American Citizens; Mrs. Will Miller, state vice chairman of National Defense, and Mrs. Wilbur Wright, state vice chairman of the building committee.

Other Corsicanans attending were Mrs. R. B. Molloy, M. C. Caston, W. H. Hastings, Clark Butler and H. B. Bomar. They were accompanied by Mrs. Felix Edwin of Corpus Christi, state recording secretary, who is visiting in Corsicana.

The Mary Tyler chapter was hostess organization for the meeting, held in the auditorium of the Women's Building. Miss Martha McClendon, regent of the Mary Tyler chapter, was in charge of arrangements.

The meeting opened at 10 o'clock in the morning with Mrs. Frank C. Trau of Sherman, Texas Society regent, presiding.

Reports were heard from Mrs. Walter G. Dick of Columbia, state chaplain; Mrs. Irwin, recording secretary; Mrs. J. A. Westborn of Dallas, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lee D. Parks of Fort Worth, treasurer; Mrs. Horn, historian; and Mrs. George J. Weddell of Water Valley, librarian.

Mrs. Trau spoke of the candidacy of Mrs. Edwin Stanton Lammers of Dallas for the office of president general of the National Society of the DAR. She urged members to attend the 59th Continental Congress and lend support to Mrs. Lammers' candidacy in the 1950 elections.

Attention was directed to the state conference to be held in the Adolphus hotel, Dallas, in March. An effective setting for the regional meeting found its keynote in a centerpiece for the speakers' table, where yellow button chrysanthemums were used to fashion the DAR initials in a crystalline base, tied with yellow satin streamers.

The flowers were the gift of the Texas Society of the DAR. The low blossoms throughout the auditorium lent emphasis to the centerpiece. Effective arrangements contrived of bold d'arc balls and fall foliage were used in decorating throughout the clubrooms.

Luncheon was served in the club dining room with the Mary Tyler chapter members serving as hostesses. Mrs. McClendon gave the invocation. Souvenir copies of the Tyler newspaper bearing a story of the regional meeting were given attending guests.

Aid Of Relatives And Friends Sought For Work Of Corsicana Camp Fire Girls Organization

Since Camp Fire is a family circle, it's no small wonder that fathers, uncles and neighbors fill such an important role in the organization's work and play activities.

That's why the Membership March slogan, "Be a Family Circle," is directed at the men of Corsicana, as well as girls between seven and 18 and women who may become leaders of Camp Fire groups.

Men serve Camp Fire in several ways, primarily as members of the local council which acts in an advisory capacity and as committee members where talents for putting up tents, balancing checkbooks and corralling transportation can be put to good use.

One of their most important Camp Fire functions is membership on a group's sponsoring committee, made up of mothers, fathers and other interested adults.

The sponsoring committee, in providing continuous leadership for the group, includes programs, camp and finance sponsors as well as persons who are familiar with other phases of club work.

"Many men at first feel that, although they would like to be a part of such a worthwhile organization, they lack the necessary background to become sponsors,"

Glenn Thompson, president, has said. "However, on-the-job-training that sponsors receive in meetings with girls, leaders and parents more than makes up for their lack of such committee experience."

At present, 15 men serve on the Corsicana Camp Fire Girls Council and an additional 10 are sponsors of local groups.

"Camp Fire Girls has always called on men for support and participation," Ann Clements, executive director, pointed out. "Although the men in our Camp Fire family do a wonderful job with business details, their greatest contribution is the encouragement they give the camp fire objectives in preparing girls to make the best possible contribution to community and home life."

"Additional adult volunteer members are needed to help organize more groups so that every Corsicana girl who wishes to become a Camp Fire Girl will have the opportunity," she added.

Camp Fire serves three age groups: Blue Birds, seven through nine; Camp Fire Girls, 10 to 15; Horizon club, senior high school.

Persons wishing more information about becoming Camp Fire Girl sponsors should telephone 1387 or visit the Camp Fire offices, First Methodist church.

Teague Appeals For Policies To Prevent New War

Preparedness Urged As One Means Of Averting Conflict

"Peace is possible." But it is up to the individual, Congressman Olin E. Teague told more than 100 persons Friday morning at the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church. He addressed the Corsicana Council of Church Women, who were observing World Community Day.

"Peace is not something you can buy," he declared. "Peace is within the individual."

Warning that "All of us will lose in a future war," the Sixth District representative urged an efficient preparedness program.

"I don't believe we would have been in World War II if we had been prepared," he declared. "We must have a police force to have world peace."

Teague said it was a difficult road to reach that peace is possible despite the common saying that "there'll always be wars."

A purple heart war veteran, Teague opened his address with a discussion of the American government, which he praised as the world's best.

"I was mentally asleep until I got in the war. But as soon as I landed on the Normandy beaches, I got to thinking and wondering why we have wars, and I was determined to find out about our government."

In Washington as a congressman now, Teague said he believed "in all sincerity that we have a good government. It isn't perfect, but it is the best of all governments that I know of."

Corsicana Citizens Pay Respects To Mr. and Mrs. Moyne L. Kelly at Dinner

By DON MORRISSEY

It was a most interesting and profitable dinner for the citizens of Corsicana who gathered at the State Home here and now executive director of the Texas state board for hospitals and special schools, had many doubts about his standing in the community he could dispel the same after being the honored guest at a dinner in the High School cafeteria Thursday night.

More than 300 persons turned out to pay their respects to Mr. and Mrs. Kelly and to wish them well in his new work. Included in the group was a party of newspapermen now on a tour of inspection of the state institutions.

Rep. Olin E. Teague, Weaver, Barnett, Judge A. P. Mays and Robert S. Calvert, Hillsboro.

Kelly was lauded for his work at the state home, for his active participation in the church, for his interests in the community, and for his leadership qualities. Mrs. Kelly, who and her husband both graduated from the State Home, came in for her share of compliments.

John Calhoun was toastmaster at the banquet and did a splendid job in introducing the several speakers.

Addresses covering the various phases of Kelly's life were given by Curtis Keen, Rotary club; DeWayne Weatherford, a high school student at his home; Dr. Edwin F. Bohmalk, Judge A. P. Mays and Calvert.

Kelly was the final speaker on the program. His remarks dealt with his work at the State Home and his plans for the future.

Speaking of Kelly as a citizen, Keen said, "our friend and honored guest exemplifies one of the standards of Rotary, in that he believes in service above self."

"Kelly," said Keen, "is a leader who can lead, he's never had a known enemy. He's humane, he always considers himself last."

The affection the students at the State Home have for their past superintendent was expressed by Weatherford when he said: "Mr. Kelly was not only interested in the boys and girls while they were in school but also in their activities after they graduated."

Dr. Bohmalk said, "You can realize what a devoted church worker Moyne is when you know his goals."

"Moyne decided to try and have every student at the home become a member of some church. When he left to take this bigger job he had nearly reached his goal."

Judge Mays said he knew Kelly would succeed in his new work because he knows and loves his work above life itself.

Calvert reminded Kelly's friends that the former superintendent of the school was undertaking a difficult assignment, and said: "We know from his past record and from his qualities that he'll succeed in his new venture if it's humanly possible."

The new executive director of the state board said, "It is my hope that all the persons in our several institutions will be given a chance to really live."

"They need to be helped, to be praised and to be loved."

Kelly and I will do all in our power to give them the attention and help they need."

Calvert, a State Home graduate and a former chairman of the Texas Democratic party, presented an honored guest with a plaque which expressed the sentiments and appreciation of the citizens of Corsicana.

The school band from the State Home presented a concert before the banquet started.

Little Bo-Peep had lost much sleep.
And could hardly see to drive;
When lights came at her,
There was a terrible clatter,
Now she's lucky to be alive!

Yes—night-driving Bo-Peep is lucky! Drowsy driving can be fatal. Fatigue—lack of sleep—too many hours behind the wheel will dull any driver's senses. And three out of every five highway deaths happen after dark.

When you drive at night, be alert—always able to stop within your headlight range. Keep your windshield clear—never look directly into blinding headlight glare.

If you are over-tired, pull off the road and rest. Spare a few seconds to save your life!
